Upgradeable Bullets

Bullets will have a type, like Speed or Healing etc. These bullets will have an upgrade tree baked into them, with the base of the tree being the perk that the player gets when selecting the bullet. Each node in the tree will either give a new perk or upgrade previous values.

The tree will have different branches that the player will select which will lock them in that branch – they will only be able to select 1 perk per level of the tree.

Healing Bullet (Defence)

Loaded Health (Initial) – On loaded, the player will receive a small amount of healing every X (2) seconds. Any extra healing will increase the bullet's damage until they shoot.

Heal Burst (Level 2) – On Hit, the bullet will explode out in a burst of healing. If the player is within the range, they will gain health.

Life Leech (Level 2) – On Hit, the player will heal the amount of damage they deal, effectively "leeching life" from the enemy.

Medicinal Zone (Level 3 – Heal Burst branch) – On top of exploding in a burst of healing, 'Heal Burst' will leave behind a zone of healing for X (10) seconds. Standing within this zone will slowly heal the player for X% (1.5) every X seconds (0.5).

Endure (Level 3 – Life Leech branch) – While in chamber and on wave completion, a X% (50) of the player's health will immediately be healed.

Vitality Boost (Level 4) – Upgrade Max Health by X% (50) and increases the effectiveness of healing effects by X% (50).

Revitalise (Level 5) – Death is not the end. If the player has this bullet in their chamber on death, they will return to X% (50) health and instantly kill any enemies within a small radius. This perk will be disabled until a new wave starts (or stage in later development)
